

FINERY FOR THE BRIDE

INNUMERABLE ARE THE PRETTY THINGS IN EVIDENCE.

Both for the Principal Figure and Her Attendants There Seems to Be No End to the Delightful Possibilities.

The ideal bride is a slender, girlish figure in a clinging gown of subtly simple lines veiled in vaporous clouds of tulle or filmy lace. Where the bride is not built upon the ideal lines she tries to conform to them as nearly as possible, and so frills and furbelows, trimmings that cut the skirt length and sleeves or corsage draperies that widen the silhouette are all taboo.

The princess gown, so long a favorite with brides, has to a large extent given place to the girdled frock. Many of the loveliest bridal gowns of the season are made with skirts rising high to meet a simple, clinging little bodice chiefly or entirely of lace or other sheer material.

Often this skirt is merely a satin tunic swathed softly around the body, the two sides crossing surplisewise in front, opening to show a glimpse of underrobe or petticoat of lace, tulle or other sheer stuff, and sweeping backward to form the long train. The upper part of the bodice is in the sheer lace or tulle of the petticoat.

Where the train is not managed in some such clinging, draped tunic fashion it is usually made separately.

When it comes to bridesmaids' frocks, there is no end to the delightful possibilities. Models quaint, pic-able models of this kind. A model which would make a charming frock for the purpose is of pale pink charmeuse. The bodice is made with kimono sleeves. The fronts of the blouse are cut with a shallow yoke and cross in surplice style. The skirt of the frock is also made with a yoke to which the lower part is attached in full draped folds.

There is a girde of pompadour ribbon with dull blue background strewn with pink roses. The ribbon girde fastens at the left side and falls in long sash ends.

Another bridesmaid's frock is of charmeuse and shadow lace. The lower part of the bodice and looped-up tunic are of the shadow lace. The upper part of the bodice is draped with chiffon. The lower part of the skirt is of charmeuse.

NUB CORN BEFORE PLANTING

Carefully Conducted Experiments Have Proven Advantages in Practice—Increases Yield.

At the North Carolina station carefully conducted experiments have demonstrated that it is advisable to nub corn before planting, for it has been found that, when seed from the tips and butts of ears are placed in one plot, and by the side of it another of the same ears, there is a larger percentage of dwarfed and barren stalks on the plot planted in tip and but kernels than from the other, and hence less yield of shelled corn per acre.

As both plots were planted on the same type of soil, and treated in the same way by fertilization and cultivation, it is strongly probable that the decreased yield of the plot sown in butt and tip grains was due to the seed, as all other conditions were as nearly identical for both as it was possible to secure.

More Politeness for Tokio Police. Since the appointment of Mr. Anraku as the superintendent of the Metropolitan Police bureau, instructions have been given to the chiefs of the police stations in the city in connection with the better treatment of the public, in order to prevent unnecessary ill feeling on the part of the people. The new superintendent has issued another instruction to modify the language used by the police to a more polite form. Hitherto, the police have been accustomed to use unrefined language in the imperative mood, such as "Oi! oi!" or "Kora! kora!" which signify, "Hi! hi!" or "Here! here!" These utterances will be replaced with more polite and gentle words, such as "Moshi, moshi," or "Hallow! Please sir!"—London Telegraph.

Rheumatism Quickly Cured.

"My sister's husband had an attack of rheumatism in his arm," writes a well known, resident of Newton, Iowa. "I gave him a bottle of Chamberlin's Liniment which he applied to his arm and on the next morning the rheumatism was gone." For chronic muscular rheumatism you will find nothing better than Chamberlin's Liniment Sold by All Dealers.

Early Inoculation.

It is interesting to examine young alfalfa plants and note how quickly they obtain the benefit of nitrogen-gathering bacteria. Plants less than four weeks old may have two or three nodules on a single root and have a countless number of bacteria furnishing nitrogen from the air. When land is first inoculated by the use of soil from an old field one may find much unevenness in the size of plants at an early age, due to the fact that the taller plants are getting an abundance of nitrogen, while the smaller plants have few or no bacteria at work for them. It is for this reason that a second seeding on land that has been made to grow alfalfa successfully is much surer than a first seeding.
